DANGERS OF DRAFT

Drafts feel best when we are hot and perspiring, just when they are most dangerous, and the result is Neuralgia, Stiff Neck, Sore Muscles, or sometimes an attack of Rheumatism. In such cases apply Sloan's Liniment. It stimulates circulation to the sore and painful part. The blood flows freely and in a short time the stiffness leaves. Those suffering from Neuralgia or Neuralgic Headache will find one or two applications of Sloan's Liniment will give grateful relief. The agonizing pain gives way to a tingling sensation of comfort and warmth, and quiet rest and sleep is possible. Good for Neuritis too. Price 25 cents at your druggist.—Adv. No. 1.

Pathephone

The Most Perfect Music Maker Made Today

The Pathephone costs more to produce than any talking machine of the same price on the market. It is an unusual product that will be bought by the thoughtful and discriminating public, and while completely made in America, still retains the impress of French art that makes it so distinctive.

The Pathephone is the only standard phonograph on the market, that will play disc records of all makes well, in fact, better than they have ever been played before.

The Pathe sound box, with its large and costly diaphragm carries and transmits sounds that a smaller diaphragm loses.

The sound amplifying horn was made under the supervision of a master of acoustics. Such delicate graduation of the tone passage, from the point of contact of the sapphire with the record, until the sound is discharged from the cabinet, has never before been achieved.

The Pathe records are not reproduced in the ordinary way. Instead of a sharp pointed needle, a smooth round ball-shaped genuine sapphire wears indefinitely, and does away with the endless changing of needles.

The method by which our records are made is recognized as the one scientific method of making a perfect record. They are recorded by the up and down system, as opposed to the lateral cut or needle system.

The indentation on the surface of the record is wide. Our smooth round sapphire, resting in this wide indentation, permits us to get over forty points of direct contact at the same time between the sapphire and the record, from each point of contact, sound vibrations are transmitted to the diaphragm of the sound box and reproduced perfectly. The result is a reproduction of all the delicate colors and overtones, 60 per cent of which are not picked up by the ordinary sharp needle. Thus we overcome the ordinarily poorly balanced reproductions in which the nasal tones strongly predominate.

The Pathe record wears forever; the needle record wears each time it is played; the laugh is on you when the other fellow sells you something at a big profit, that you know, and he knows, is perishable and extraneous. "He should worry how you waste your money." The French are the most thrifty people in the world, and no discs can or do exist in France beside the Pathe discs. No such band records can be found in any catalogue as are listed in the Pathe repertoire.

Our tone control is perfect. No other machines or records have such wonderful volume; bands of one hundred instruments are truly reproduced, and yet the loudest tone can be reduced to a whisper. If you own a Pathephone, you can compare it with any machine on the market, with the absolute confidence that yours is the best. The Pathe catalog contains the largest number of selections in the world, and month by month, these will become available to the American Public.

THE Lyon & Healy Pianos and Players

Products of the Finest Factory in America

Musical Quality

Primarily the aim in building the Lyon & Healy Piano is musical quality. A large percentage of the sum you pay is represented by musical quality—it costs heavily to put it there, but it is the foundation stone of the Lyon & Healy Piano. We do not strive to compete with mere "talking points" of other instruments, our piano has this one solid underlying basis—musical quality. Every tone is pure and marked by richness, depth and singing quality that makes even a simple melody a thing of delight. The scale is even through its entire compass. Seek as you will, no fault can be found with it—everywhere the charming, perfectly balanced liquid quality invites artistic expression.

Mechanical Perfection

Here are considered a multitude of various points of construction. Why, it may be asked, is this detail of construction in the Lyon & Healy Piano fashioned in a particular manner? Why is another detail almost, but not exactly the same as in a piano of other noted make? Our answer is: our experience of over half a century has shown us the best way to achieve certain results, and every instrument of our manufacture represents in concrete form the ideas that have proved sound in conducting the largest and most successful music business in the world.

The Lyon & Healy Piano possesses elasticity of action and responsiveness of touch which are unsurpassed, and all its mechanical features are so perfect as to excite the admiration of the expert. The convexity of the face of the sounding board, together with our perfect and finely finished metal plates and methods of stringing, result in a tone which never loses its refinement even when pushed to extreme fortissimo; there is always in its contact of the sapphire with the record, until the sound is discharged, siveness of touch.
